

The Client

DHL, a global project forwarder.

The Requirement

110 x 40' DV's ex Houston

The Challenge

This project required a high volume of units in 2010, when there was a world shortage of container units for supply.

The Solution

We repositioned for the project the units from our Asia stock by leasing units to a global carrier who then off-hired the units in Houston. There was a delay in the project for over 1 month whilst units were being repositioned. The client, Colgate Palmolive, understood the unusual circumstance and was grateful that there would be a creative solution.

All units were supplied with CW certificates and the project was successful.
